

Mr Fachtna Murphy retired in 2010 as Commissioner of the An Garda Síochána after a long & illustrious career. He was deputy commissioner for several years & was appointed Garda Commissioner by the Government in November 2007. He was at the forefront of the establishment of the Criminal Assets Bureau, for which his leadership received international acclaim, with many other jurisdictions adopting his practices to tackle organised crime and seize the assets of those crimes.

During his tenure, his focus was on tackling the illicit drugs trade & organised crime, together with the development of community to ensure that people felt safe on the streets & in their homes.